JANUARY 29, 1756. [Numb. 1127.]

The SOUTH-CAROLINA Gazette.

NEW-YORK, Dec. 15.

WE hear, that his excellency sir Charles Hardy, has presented 500 l. to our Charter-College.

Philadelphia, Dec. 18. This day the honourable James Hamilton, esq; Benjamin Franklin and Joseph Fox, esq; set out for the frontiers, in order to settle matters for the defence of the province.

New York, Dec. 22. Monday last his excellency major general Shirley, was pleased to subscribe 100 l. to the New York charter college.

Boston, December 22. By Capt. Joseph Hibbert of the Brigt. Hannah, who left Cadiz the 11th of November, and arrived at Marblehead the 15th Inst. we have the following awful account, viz. That on the first day of November, he was on shore in the city of Cadiz, and as the clock was striking 11 in the forenoon, he felt a shock of an earthquake, which lasted about 3 minutes; that being sensible of what it was, he immediately repaired to the mould, which was about a quarter of a mile from the house where he was, when the shock happened, where he met three other masters of vessels belonging to New-England, and consulting with each other, whether it was best to go off on board their vessels, or return into the city again, three of said masters resolved to go off, and accordingly slept into one of their boats; and after they had put off from the mould saw a heavy sea (about half a mile distance) coming towards the shore, that with difficulty they got on board the first vessel, before the sea came; that it immediately put the shipping into great disorder, and did some considerable damage to them. —That as soon as the sea came into shoal water it broke in a heavy manner and very high, destroyed every thing without the walls, carried before it a great length of the town walls, dismounted several batteries, and ran over a good deal of the lower part of the city.—That all the carriages and passengers that were passing at that time to and from on the neck that joins the city to the continent, and many hundreds, and some say thousands, of people, were lost, and particularly 4 eminent merchants in coaches were destroyed. —That in about a quarter of an hour after the first sea came, there came a second as awful, and about the same space after came a third more awful, and beat on the shipping and shore in the same manner; and that prodigious damage is done to the buildings. That they had received accounts from several places adjacent where they had suffered much damage: That a vessel from Bilboa bound to Cadiz, laden with iron, was off Lisbon at the time of the shock, and there was such a concussion as shook his iron very much in the hold: That they had not had any accounts from Lisbon when he came away, and that the people at Cadiz dreaded what accounts they might receive from the Northern parts of the country.

Extract of a Letter from Cadiz, November 4, 1755.

"A great earthquake happened the first instant; and has occasioned great confusion: This day news came from Seville, That that place has received damage to the amount of two millions of dollars: That the town of Algezire is entirely sunk; and that many little villages are swallowed up, and great damage done to the shipping."

New York, Dec. 29. By Capt. Lyell, who is arrived at Amboy, in 6 weeks from Madera, we have advice, that one of his Britannick majesty's ships of war, bound to the coast of Guiney, had taken and carried into Madera, a French Martinico man, said to be very rich.

By a letter from Oswego, dated the 29th of November, we learn, that the French have evacuated Niagara, and other forts, for want of provisions, and are gone to Crown-Point, to wait the arrival of the provincial troops that were destined to attack that fort.

Boston, Dec. 29. Capt. Collins, arrived at Cape-Anne from Lisbon, informs, that on the 1st day of November, between 10 and 11 in the forenoon, as he was coming down the river of Lisbon, with his vessel, he heard a noise and felt his vessel shake, on which he instantly saw the houses of the city falling and a great dust arising over it like a fog; the shock continued about 2 minutes: Half an hour after which the tide came in and arose about 20 feet higher than common, and by which a few people near Belem were drowned; and that towards the evening of the same day, after a continual smoke from the rubbish, the fire broke out in several places, and made a dreadful devastation, communicating itself to such a degree, that, (with the shock of the earthquake, which had thrown down many houses entirely, and others dreadfully dismantled and broken, and in some streets that were narrow, and the houses very high, they were shook so that the tops of some fell towards the others, and meeting on the opposite side, formed an arch over the streets,) a great part of the city was destroyed, together with the king's palace, churches, custom house, India house, hospitals, nunneries, and other public buildings, and how many thousands of people were burnt or buried in the ruins 'tis impossible to determine. That it being All Saints day, and the time of devotion, the churches were full of people, abundance of whom were destroyed together in them; some escaped sorely bruised and wounded, and others had their limbs broke.—One church in particular, as capt. Collins was informed, which contained in it at that time about 800 people, fell in upon them and scarce one person saved.—That 2 or 3 fleets had arrived from the Brazils and other parts, and their cargoes being chiefly landed was destroyed.—On the 3d capt. Collins went ashore, and beheld every thing in the utmost confusion and disorder; the city being abandoned by the inhabitants that were saved, who were gone out of the city, and most of them obliged to lie in tents or in the open air; except some who were by order from the court sent as guards to prevent plundering and robbing the city; notwithstanding which, numbers have busily employed themselves in stealing what they could; and some of them had been taken into custody, and were to be executed the next day after he came away.—That sir Henry Fairkland was in a chaise when the shock came, and his horses and 2 servants were killed, but he escaped.—The king of Portugal, and the royal family, were at the palace at Belem.—An order for an embargo came from court before he sail'd, in order to examine or search every vessel before they departed.—They had heard that St. Ubes was sunk; and some Dutch ships lost there; and had also advice from about 60 miles back in the country, that several towns had suffered greatly.—Two days after he came out, being about 50 leagues to the westward, that day week after the earthquake, and about the same time of day, he felt another shock; the noise considerable, but the shake not so severe as that at Lisbon.

Last saturday morning arrived here Capt. Samuel Livingston, in a snow from Annapolis-Royal, having 321 French neutrals on board.

New York, Jan. 5. Last tuesday major-general Johnson arrived here from Albany: About 6 miles out of town, he was met by a considerable number of gentlemen on horseback, who conducted him to the king's-arms tavern, where most of the principal inhabitants were assembled to congratulate him on his safe arrival: The ships in the harbour saluted him as he passed the streets, amidst the acclamations of the people. At night the city was beautifully illuminated, and the general joy displayed on this occasion, evinced the highest gratitude of the people, for the singular services this gentleman has done his country in the late expedition.

Wednesday

Wednesday last a detachment of 50 men, from the several companies posted in this city, set out from this place for Philadelphia.

CHARLES-TOWN, January

On Sunday last arrived here Capt. Cook from Jamaica, who left that Place the 2[illegible] and informs us, that the Magdalen Snow of this Port [illegible] had then carried into [illegible] 27 Prize Vessels, (four of them Guineamen, and two more with very rich Cargoes of Indico, Sugar, Cocoa, Cash, &c.); and that they were gone upon another Cruize

And on Monday arrived here, in Capt. Schermerhorn, from New York, Capt. Paul Demarest, Lieut. Hayworth, Ensign Taylor, and Doct. Maurice Andrews, Officers of the Independent Company that was sent from this Province to Virginia, and which had been in both the Battles of Monongahela: Also arrived in said Vessel, 27 Invalids belonging to the said Company.

On Tuesday last the two following Acts received His Excellency the Governor's Assent, viz.

1. An Act for building a new church in the parish of St. Paul in Colleton county.

2. An Act for paying the sum of 301. sterling per annum, or the value thereof in the currency of this province, to the rectors or ministers of such of the parishes in this province, as do not, or shall not, receive any mission money from the society for propagating the gospel in foreign parts: And providing salaries for such ministers of the gospel as shall preach, and perform divine service, at the Congarees.

The Northern Papers by Capt Schermerhorn, continue full of Affidavits and Relations of execrable Murders and Devastations committed by the Indians; and say, that they have crossed the Delaware in a large Body. The Accounts received since those we last published, are so very shocking, and so many in Number, that we cannot give them a Place here; but the Amount is, that (since those that have been heretofore mentioned) upwards of 400 Men, Women and Children have been butchered in the most savage Manner, and above 200 Houses, Mills, &c. burnt; and that nothing is to be seen in the back Parts of Pennsylvania but Horror and Desolation, populous Settlements deserted, and People of all Ages wandering about, naked and hungry, seeking in vain Places of Security.

Yesterday His Majesty's Snow Jamaica, commanded by Samuel Hood, Esq; being fully mann'd, sailed on a Cruize against the French.

The Betsy, (a coasting Schooner belonging to this Port) —— Tipper Master, coming from George-Town with a valuable Cargo of Indico, &c. on board, is cast away. The Wreck was discovered last Week near Bull's Island, and seven Barrels of Indico brought from it; but as she had been missing near a Month, and none of the People have yet been heard of, 'tis supposed they have all perished.

The SOUTH-CAROLINA Gazette.

[A SUPPLEMENT.]

1756

LONDON, November 4.

A Gentleman who arrived last week from Bourdeaux reports, that the French merchantmen belonging to that port are all laid up, and the men entered on board the men of war; and that there were upwards of 100 sail of Dutch ships in that harbour.

On thursday Don Felix de Aberu et Bertodano, had a private audience of his majesty at Kensington, to deliver his letters of credence, as envoy extraordinary from his Catholic majesty.

Nov. 8. Thursday Slingsby Bethell, Esq; was sworn at Guildhall into the high office of lord mayor.

Several things are mentioned, both in foreign and domestic papers, relating to the pretender's eldest son. Some assert that he is to be married to madame Maria Adelaide, one of the French king's daughters; others would have it that he is not inclined to marry at all, being an Italian. But upon the whole, it is incumbent upon them to inform us how he got out of Scotland after the battle of Culloden? to what place he retreated? what ship carried him off, and what port in France, Spain, or Italy, he landed at? how he has spent his time since, and who has seen him? because some thousands believe his bones rest in Scotland, and that his soul is in Purgatory, if any such place there be, exclusive of what the priests have invented to fill their own pockets.

Nov. 13. We hear, that twenty pieces of cannon are ordered from the Tower into Kent.

At the court end of the town people long to know what will be done with the French ships; and are full of it, that the parliament will go directly on ways and means for raising the necessary supplies, and to distress our enemies; building much on the great harmony subsisting between the king and them at this juncture. Merchants and agents in the city are for selling ships and cargoes forthwith. Orders for entering, weighing, warning, and disposing of the sugars, indicos, &c. with all possible speed. The sailors are impatient to break bulk, that they may know and dispose of their shares. Some coffee houses are at times in great joy, at other times all a mort, according as war or peace prevails in 'Change-alley. But they hope in all cases that the goods will be sold here either by us or the French.

Nov. 15. There were upwards of 400 members in the house of commons last thursday.

The house of commons sat 'till 5 o'clock yesterday morning.

Last night a proclamation was issued for recalling seamen from foreign service, and prohibiting them to enter into it; and for taking up all straggling seamen; and offering a bounty of 3 l. to every able seaman, and 30 s. to every ordinary one that shall voluntarily enter; also offering a reward of 40 s. for discovering an able seaman, and 30 s. for discovering an ordinary seaman. This proclamation to continue in force 'till the last day of this year.

Two other trains of artillery are ordered to be sent from the Tower into Essex and Suffolk.

The several marching regiments and regiments of horse quartered in the inland Northern counties, have received orders for marching to the coasts of Essex, Kent, and Sussex.

The government will in a few days take into their pay a considerable number of merchant ships, said to be designed for the protection of the coasts of England, Scotland, and Ireland.

Nov. 20. Lieutenant colonel Webb, of col. Conway's horse in Ireland, is to be colonel of the late sir Peter Halkett's regiment in North America.

Lieutenant-colonel Elliot, of major-general Shirley's regiment in North America, to be colonel of the regiment there now commanded by col. Dunbar.

And col. Dunbar is appointed lieutenant governor of Gibraltar.

The Esperance man of war, taken by Capt. Stevens, fought fairly for nigh 3 hours, when Capt. Stevens finding his rigging so mang'led as to be unable to tack about, he laid by to repair, and then began a second attack, which lasted near 2 hours, when he found the Frenchman very tardy in firing, and expected them to strike every moment. However, finding his rigging in the same or worse condition than before, occasion'd by their double chain shot, he lay by a second time to mend it. In the mean time admiral West came up, upon which the French, proud when an opportunity offers of striking to a flag, immediately paid him that compliment. Capt. Stevens does them the justice to say, they fought the ship very well. The Esperance was the last ship the French had in North America, in which they had really sanguine Hope, as she was quite in fighting order, in thorough repair, and had 500 pick'd men on board.
